Services for Publishers from The Charlesworth Group

Language Polishing Services for Publishers

http://www.charlesworthauthorservices.com/about~publisher_benefits

Author Services from The Charlesworth Group helps publishers by offering authors a reliable, affordable, and high quality service that will help them improve the quality, clarity, and readability of the English in manuscripts before submission. Publishers, editors, and reviewers can save enormous amounts of time when the manuscripts they receive are written in clear, correct, and concise English - in particular with non-native English speaking author submissions.

Publishers can refer their authors or outsource difficult article editing to Author Services from The Charlesworth Group.

By offering our Author Services, publishers can

- Reduce time and costs associated with processing papers with poor English
- Create a new line of revenue from referrals or earn free edits for your authors
- Reduce the risk of rejecting a paper which offers good scientific research
- Have a partner who is highly experienced in working with non-native speakers of English, particularly those from China. Chinese authors make up the largest proportion of submissions coming from international researchers
- Establish access to editors who are trained and tested, native English speakers, and have subject matter expertise in the area in which they are editing
- Generate good-will with authors by guiding them to an editing service with highly skilled editors, guaranteed quality, and fast turnaround times.
- Reduce in-house costs by outsourcing the editing of author papers
- Have an on call service that can handle almost any file type (MS Word, WordPerfect, LaTeX and Tex, plus .jpg, .tif, .eps for figures)
- Have a trusted and well established partner who meets ISO 9001 quality standards and who can provide STM editing and other publishing services

Our language polishing services will help authors

- Correct and improve (or “polish”) written English
- Help clarify meaning and improve the readability of a manuscript

Our editors

All the editors working for Charlesworth Author Services are highly skilled, native speakers of English and have university degrees in the subject areas of the manuscripts they edit. Our editors are trained and tested to guarantee they have the most current knowledge needed to quickly and accurately edit scientific, technical, and medical texts in specific subject areas. Each manuscript submitted to Author Services is assigned to an editor with subject matter expertise, who will review the text and make suggestions to improve grammar, spelling, syntax, coherence, clarity, and readability.

Publisher Options

Author referrals

To encourage authors to use our language editing services, Charlesworth welcomes publishing partners to become “referral partners”. Publishers can form referral partnerships with Charlesworth by putting links to or information about Author Services by Charlesworth in the author instructions or submission guidelines, on webpages for authors, or in author correspondence when language is an issue. As referral partners, publishers can create a new line of revenue from referrals, earn free edits, or receive discounts that they can then pass along to their authors. Referring authors is a free way to generate good will with authors while at the same time greatly increasing the quality of author submissions – saving the publisher time and money.

How it works

1. You include a link to our Author Services on your site, which authors can use before they submit a paper, or when you suggest they get their paper edited. You can provide the link to our site in your author instructions or give it directly to the authors in correspondence.
2. Authors can review our services and prices and determine if our services meet their needs for language editing.
3. If an author decides to use our service, they can submit their manuscript to us via our online submission system, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and receive a language polished paper back in 5-10 days.
4. When edits are finished, the author can submit or re-submit the improved manuscript back to you.

Outsourced article editing

Charlesworth can also help when papers are scientifically worthy of publication but are received in poorly written English. Our expert editors can edit or polish the language in such papers prior to submission or during the peer review process when language is an issue.
